

B-29'S HIT JAPANESE MANCHURIAN TARGETS

Tank Battles Raging As Rommel Seeks To Halt Yank Advance

BY GLADWIN HILL

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 29—U. S. tanks clashed with counter-attacking German armor in fierce battles along a 10-mile sector east of captured Coutances today as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel reacted violently to the American offensive threatening to burst his lines blocking the way to the heart of France.

Associated Press Correspondent Hal Boyle reported more than a dozen tank duels raged in a broad triangular area between Casiny, Notre Dame Censilly, and Tassy-Sur-Vire, from which American tank spearheads are lancing southward.

Fighting centered around the hamlet of Pont Brocard, on a highway between Canisy and Notre Dame, after the Americans jumped off at dawn on the fifth successive day of their offensive.

(The British radio said a tank column was driving on Brehal, 11 miles below Coutances and 2½ miles from the sea. All main coastwise roads meet at Brehal. As heard originally by CBS the broadcast said the tanks had reached Brehal, but this later was corrected by BBC.)

The classic encircling movement which forced the enemy from a strong hedge row and swamp positions above Coutances was being repeated, and one tank column drove westward to the sea below that Normandy road center.

Tank elements in a column miles long hammered on six miles south of Coutances as a U. S. general on foot, with a prisoner he personally captured, led triumphant American forces into the city.

Enemy Beaten Back
(NBC Reporter John McVane broadcast from France this morning that the Germans had counter-attacked with tanks south of Tassy-Sur-Vire, half way to the next good enemy communications center of Vire, and were beaten back after they "mroke through momentarily.")

The U. S. Ninth air force reported more than 180 German tanks were knocked out of action Wednesday and Thursday, and 242 other vehicles were destroyed in attacks on strongpoints and troop concentrations.

Rommel apparently had decided at last to shift part of the armor which he has been holding south of Caen to meet any impending attack.

Dewey, Bricker Plan Nation-Wide Tour

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, July 29.—The Republicans standard bearers—Thomas E. Dewey and John W. Bricker—will "cover the whole country in their election campaign," Governor Bricker said here.

Bricker, who returned yesterday from a two-day visit in Albany, N. Y., with the Republican presidential nominee, Party Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., and others, said they planned to begin their campaign about Sept. 1.

"We're going to cover the whole country," he said. "There will be no halfway campaign. It will be complete, thorough and aggressive all the way."

Asked if the Republican strategists had made any plans about invading the "solid south," particularly those states where dissatisfaction had dropped out during the Democratic national convention, Bricker replied: "That will be determined as the campaign progresses."

Dewey will likely come into Ohio for "one or two speeches," Bricker said.

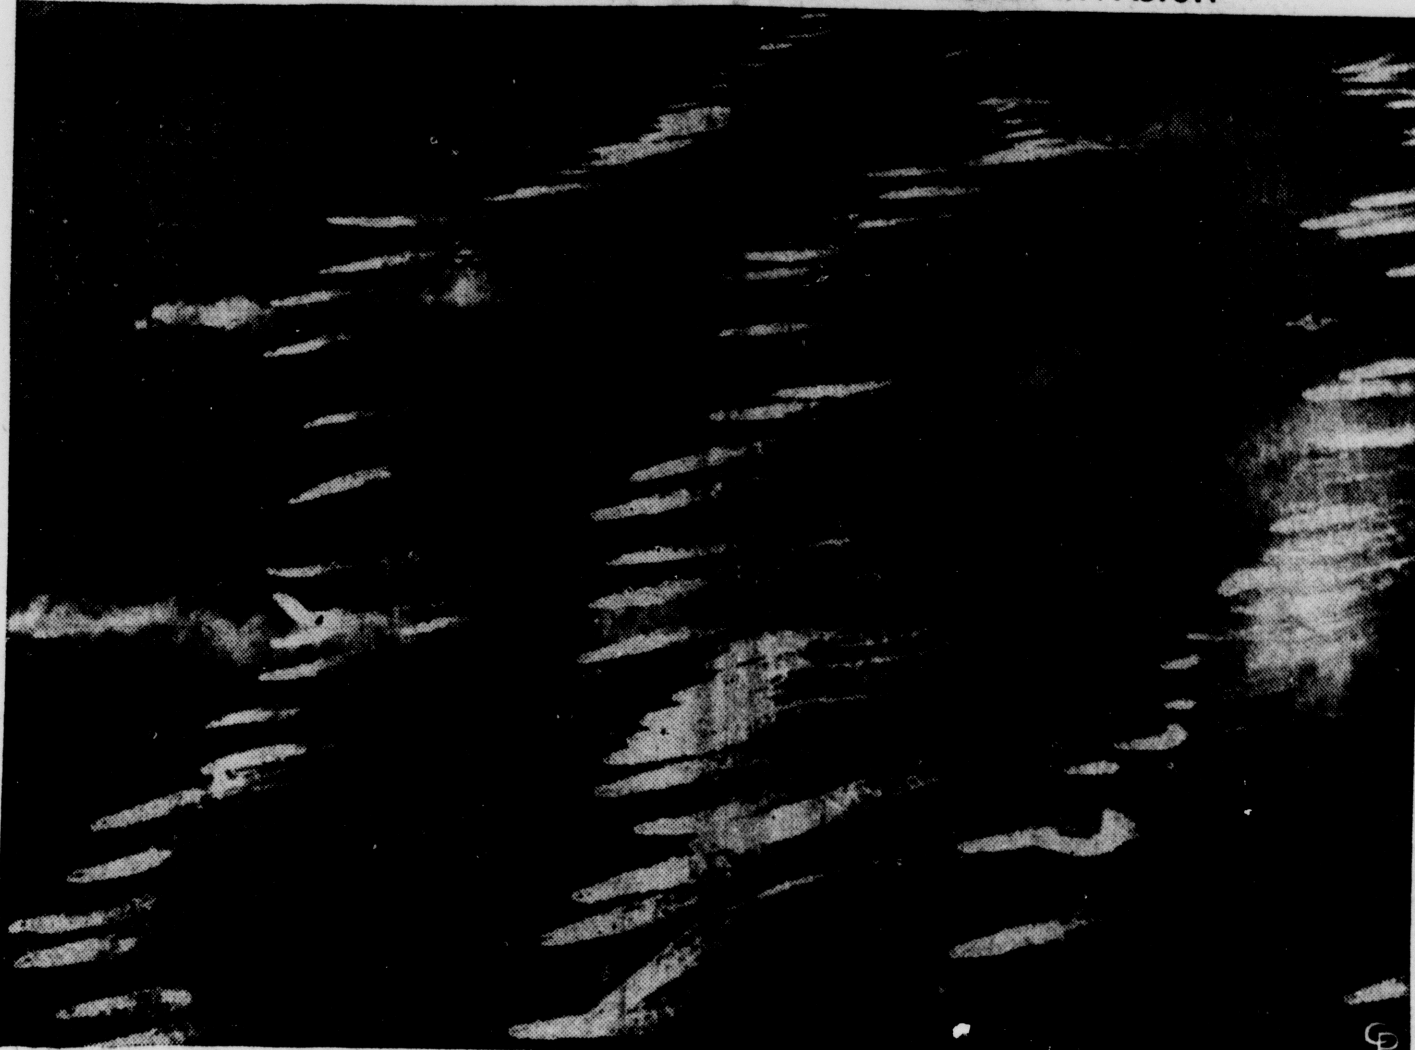

Cup of Coffee Is Five Cents Again, OPA Says
(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 29.—The five-cent cup of coffee, an old American institution, the war changed in some restaurants, will be back nearly everywhere next Monday.

As announced earlier by the Office of Price Administration, only eating places that charged more than a nickel for coffee in October, 1942, may continue to do so. All later hikes to six or seven cents or more are out.

The ruling is part of a regulation extending to the entire country the "freeze" of restaurant prices already in effect in most states.

YANKS SEIZE TINIAN FIELD

Battle Becomes Rout For Japs; Trap On Guam Is Tightened

(By Associated Press)
U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, July 29.—Capturing a second airfield, American forces today chased fleeing Japanese into the south half of Tinian island while other Yanks tightened a trap on 2,000 Nips at Guam, swelling the total of more than 27,000 of the enemy killed in the Marianas sector.

Impressive ground gains on both islands were reported by Acm Chester W. Nimitz and front line correspondents.

The Marine drive on Tinian, the island next to conquered Saipan, was turning into a rout. Sweeping across eight square miles in a more or less shell-shattered Tinian town, the Leathernecks at times lost all contact with the Japanese, who were racing toward eventual death in the hilly south sector.

On Guam, Marines and soldiers punched 500 more yards out of Orote peninsula, pushing closer to the seaward end of the 2,000 Nips doomed to die in defense of an airfield and the Sumay naval base. The defenders hold less than half the peninsula on Guam's west coast.

Check Jap Attacks
North and south of the peninsula the Yanks crashed inland for gains up to two miles. They threw back a fierce counter-attack, killing 2,000 Japs. They moved within 800 yards of Agaña, Guam's capital city. They won three strategic heights, ranging up to more than 1,900 feet elevation.

Conservatively, 4,700 Japs have been killed on Guam through Thursday, one week after it was invaded. Nimitz reported. More than 2,000 others have been slain or captured.

Failure of OPA To Act Closes Laundry's Doors

EAST LIVERPOOL, July 29.—The manager of the Enterprise Laundry last night announced his firm was going out of business as a result of employees' demands for higher wages and failure of the Office of Price Administration to permit a price boost to meet additional costs, leaving this city of 23,000 with only one laundry.

Sugar Replacement O. K.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—Consumers may get replacements of sugar which is lost, damaged, destroyed or stolen by applying to local War Price and Rationing boards for certificates, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

This action, effective August 2, adds sugar to previous OPA regulations affecting meats, cheeses, butter, processed foods and other rationed food items, OPA said.

Butler Grange, Active For 70 Years, To Celebrate Monday

Seventy years of progress and development will be marked by Butler Grange at an anniversary program at 8:30 p. m. Monday at the grange hall near Winona.

All former and present grange members and those of neighboring granges have been invited to attend the anniversary program which will feature an address by a state grange officer. A musical highlight will be the appearance of the Fairmount Children's home band.

Organized July 31, 1874, with 31 charter members at the former Thompson C. Randolph farm, the group held meetings during the first few years at the farm home of the members. In 1881 the present hall was built at an approximate cost of $200, according to minutes of an early grange session.

Randolph was the grange's first master and Mrs. B. P. Windle was its only woman master. Although the grange has had as many as 200 members, the membership at present numbers 161. Ten of its members are serving in the armed forces.

Influential in the organization of the grange were the J. W. Scattergood, Ed Windle, Emma Windle and Milton Windle. The Thompson Randolph and Ward families, all early settlers of the vicinity.

Charter Members Dead
The late Mrs. Laura Garside was the only member of the grange to hold a state office, serving a term as state grange chaplain.

Charter members of the organization, none of whom are living, included A. M. and Clementine Ward, B. P. and Lady Windle, H. J. Windle, Thompson C. and Mary C. Randolph, F. J. and Eliza Ward, Joshua and Mary A. Whinery, Elijah and Lavina Whinery, William Stratton and William F. and Belle King, P. H. and Annie Garside, A. C. and Rebecca King, Joseph and Phoebe Windle, M. E. and Adeline Windle, E. D. and Emma Windle, J. W. and Matilda Scattergood, David and Maria Porter and Isiah Shriver.

Present officers of the grange, who will officiate during the anniversary program, include: Master Lowell Whinery; overseer, Oliver Conser; lecturer, Mrs. Marion Hartson; steward, Lee Whinery; assistant, Richard Mercer; lady assistant, Jean Baker; chaplain, Mrs. Porter and Isiah Shriver.

Up to July 20, Lt. Col. Gabreski had shot down 28 planes in the air and destroyed three on the ground. The message came as a great shock to the filer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gabryszewski, who had been expecting word momentarily that their son, who had been reported as receiving a 30-day furlough, was on the way back to the United States.

Gabreski's parents retain the original Polish spelling of the family name.

Lt. Col. Gabreski had been expected to arrive here early in August. While on furlough he had planned to marry pretty Kay Cochran of Prairie Du Chien, Wis., whom he met in Hawaii where he was stationed before the war.

Gabreski quit a premedical course at Notre Dame university to join the air force in 1940. He was transferred to the European theater in October, 1942, and for a time flew with a Polish RAF squadron.

URGENT MRS. DAWSON FOR TREASURER JOB
The appointment of Mrs. Edith Cripps Dawson, widow of the late County Treasurer Olen H. Dawson, to fill her husband's office until the November election was recommended to the board of county commissioners today by the Republican central committee.

Appointment of Mrs. Dawson to the post was suggested for the commissioners' approval at a meeting called for Monday.

NAZI FLORENCE LINE CRUMBLES

New Zealanders Knife Way Through Enemy's Italian Defenses

(By Associated Press)
ROME, July 29.—Desert-hardened New Zealand veterans have cracked Nazi defenses south of Florence and knifed their way into the last mountain line only five miles from the historic city. Allied headquarters announced today.

The break-through provoked heavy German counter-attacks, and bitter fighting was reported in the hills overlooking Florence.

Momentum of the savage counter-thrusts by Nazi infantry and Tiger tanks swept the leading company of New Zealanders back 600 yards, but official reports said the enemy then was brought to a halt and positions in the hills were being firmly held.

The threat to Florence also grew as South African troops crossed the Greve river, two miles south of Impruneta, which is only five and a half miles from the city's boundaries.

Aside from the bitter fighting in the New Zealanders' sector there was scant fighting of consequence yesterday along the remainder of the Italian front.

CAPT. REED, CHAPLAIN IN ARMY, WOUNDED

Capt. Charles D. Reed, son of Mrs. Myrtle Reed of East Fairfield, became Columbus county's first chaplain known to be wounded in action with receipt of word of his injury on June 9 during the early days of the French invasion.

Capt. Reed occupied pulpits in the Irondale, Hammondville and Pine Grove Methodist churches prior to accepting the charge of the Zion Methodist church at Cleveland, His wife, Adeline, resides with her parents in Covington, Ky.

The Methodist minister enlisted in the army chaplain service in May, 1942, and, following training at Indiantown Gap, Pa., and Newport News, Va., was sent overseas with the infantry 18 months ago.

He is convalescing in a base hospital in England, and expects to return to active service early this autumn.

Pvt. Walzer of Leetonia Is Awarded Purple Heart

Pvt. Norman Walzer of Leetonia, who was injured in action June 11 during the invasion of France, has been awarded the Purple Heart medal.

Pvt. Walzer is now recovering in a base hospital in England, it is learned. He has been in service since September, 1943, and overseas since March.

Daylight Raid On Anshan Is Carried Out

A SUPERFORTRESS BASE IN WESTERN CHINA, July 29—B-29 Superfortresses today bombed Anshan in eastern Manchuria.

In the first daylight assault of those long-ranging super-bombers, the weather was reported favorable for the success of the massed raiders, which loosed bombs from high altitudes.

Anshan, city of 200,000 in the Mukden industrial region of Manchuria, is one of the most important producers of chemical by-products vital to Japan's manufacture of munitions. Its output includes sizeable percentages of the total empire production of Benzene, toluene, phenol and synthetic oils. The mills there are the second largest producers of pig iron and the third largest of rolled steel and steel ingots in the empire.

(At the same time a communique from Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced that American Liberators in a sea sweep had sunk a 4,000-ton Japanese naval vessel and two freighters and damaged another freighter off Hongkong.)

(Chinese reports from Chungking said Japanese authorities in Formosa had initiated compulsory evacuation of non-essential residents from centers of the island vulnerable to air attack.)

The large force of B-29s took off in a brilliant, lacquer-red dawn, which followed a thunderstorm, and hours later, the force broke its radio silence, flashed the code word saying bombs were away over the target area, and reporting the giant planes had wheeled for the long homeward journey.

Significantly the great heavy bombers again singled out heavy installations as their primary targets in this powerful smash at the heart of Japan's "greater East Asia arsenal."

On the two previous operations of the B-29s major installations also were the targets—at Yawata June 15, and at Yawata and Sasebo, third largest Japanese naval base, July 7.

Both these attacks on Kyushu island in the Japanese homeland had been night, low-level smashes. Today's mission was the first strike at Manchuria from the air and the first daylight bombing of Japanese targets from high altitudes.

Huge billows of smoke from the industrial area at Anshan blackened the target, which sticks out prominently in the Manchurian plain. It was estimated officially that it will take 12 months to rebuild some of the intricate installations.

In a diversionary attack, another force of the giant raiders struck at the Chensheng railway yards in northern Honan province, bottleneck of the Peking-Hankow railway which the Japanese now are rebuilding feverishly. The diversionary force took off at the same time as the Anshan raiders.

Test Daylight Operation
One of the purposes of today's strike apparently was to test out the B-29s in daylight operation.

Rainstorm Greeted By Salem Residents

Salem received a welcome rainstorm yesterday as a high wind and electrical storm caused some damage in the vicinity but relieved the drought that threatened to do so throughout the state.

Although rainfall here was not exceptionally heavy—50 inches, the crops and victory gardens in this section were greatly benefited.

The windstorm did some damage in the city and several large trees were reported blown down.

Columbus and vicinity yesterday had the first rainfall in 16 days—1.42 inches—which brought relief to gardeners and a drop from 90 degrees in temperature to 66 at 8:30 p. m.

Soviet Army Spearheads Within Sight Of Warsaw

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, July 29.—Red army spearheads rolling across the Polish plain were reported within sight of Warsaw today and the German communique said other Soviet forces had penetrated the Latvian rail hub of Jelgava, which would practically bisect the Baltics.

The German bulletin said a Nazi counter-attack had thrown the Russian vanguard out of Jelgava, 120 miles northwest of Daugapils (Dvinsk) and about 21 miles southwest of Riga on an arm of the Baltic sea.

British dispatches from the eastern front said Warsaw could be seen by advance Soviet forces in the Polish offensive, made up of cavalry, scout cars and tanks.

Fighting apparently raged on in the vicinity of Jelgava as the Russians threatened to pinch off German Baltic divisions by gaining mastery of the rail line from Siauliai to Kaunas. The Russians already held Siauliai, 50 miles south of Jelgava.

The Germans declared they still held Siedlce, 50 miles east of Warsaw, but Russian dispatches said Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's right wing was moving on the city for the purpose of joining forces which were battling Germans in the streets after capturing Brest Litovsk. Dispatches did not locate the Russian spearhead positions.

As Ukrainian army units to the south seized Jaroslavl and Przemyśl, Nazi strongholds on the route to Germany, Rokossovsky's advance units stabbed forward during the night from Kolbiel, 20 miles south-east of Warsaw, and powerful artillery pieces behind them were wheeled into position.

(A London broadcast recorded by OWI said Russian troops had reached "the outer fortifications of Warsaw," quoting Moscow press dispatches.)

The marshal left units under Kuban Cossack Gen. Pilev to help special mopping up squads take care of three Nazi divisions pinned against the western Bug river. Field dispatches said it was the same old story—thousands of Germans waiting too long to retreat.

Upwards of 20,000 Nazis were believed hemmed in, with escape virtually out of the question. With Brest Litovsk captured, Rokossovsky freed numerous units for fighting against Siedlce.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

Ellery almost chuckled as he turned back and gave his whole mind to the man before him. The very first pertinent question he asked him—Bradford was on the trail.

"Do you recall, Mr. Smith, that we found the three letters in the defendant's handwriting as a result of Mrs. Haight's hysterical belief that you had told us about them?"

"Do you also recall two unsuccessful attempts on my part that day to find out from you what you knew about the letters?"

"Quite well," Bradford said softly. "Mr. Smith, today you are on the witness stand, under oath to tell the whole truth. Now ask me: Did you know of the existence of those three letters before Chief Dakin found them in the defendant's house?"

And Ellery said: "Yes, I did." "When did you first learn about them?"

Ellery told him, and Bradford's surprise turned into satisfaction.

"Then you knew Mrs. Haight was in danger from her husband?"

"Not at all. I knew there were three letters saying so by implication."

"Well, did you, or did you not, believe the defendant wrote those letters?"

Judge Martin made as if to object, but Mr. Queen answered, "I don't know."

"Didn't Miss Patricia Wright identify her brother-in-law's handwriting for you, as you just testified?"

"She did. But that did not make it so."

"Did you check up yourself?"

"Yes. But I don't pretend to be a handwriting expert."

"But you must have come to some conclusion, Mr. Smith?"

"Objection!" shouted Defense Counsel Martin, unable to contain himself. "His conclusion?"

"Strike out the question," directed Judge Newbold.

Bradford smiled. "You also examined Bluecomb's Toxicology, particularly the part devoted to arsenic, with certain sentences marked in red crayon?"

"I did."

"You knew from the red crayon marking in the book that, if a crime were going to be committed, death by arsenic poisoning was indicated?"

"We could quarrel about the distinction between certainty and probability," replied Mr. Queen. "But to save argument—let's say I know; yes."

"It seems to me, Your Honor," said Mr. Martin in a bored voice, "that this is an entirely improper line of questioning."

"How so, Counsel?" inquired Judge Newbold.

"Because Mr. Smith's thoughts and conclusions have no conceivable bearing upon the facts at issue."

Bradford smiled again, and when Judge Newbold asked him to limit his questions to events and conversations, he nodded carelessly, as if it did not matter.

"Mr. Smith, were you aware that the third letter of the series talked about the 'death' of Mrs. Haight as if it had occurred on New Year's Eve?"

"Yes."

"During the New Year's Eve party under examination, did you keep following the defendant out of the living room?"

"I did."

"You were keeping an eye on him all evening?"

"Yes."

"You watched him mix cocktails in the pantry?"

"Yes."

"Now do you recall the last time before midnight the defendant mixed cocktails?"

"Distinctly."

"Where did he mix them?"

"In the butler's pantry off the kitchen."

"Did you follow him there from the living room?"

"Yes, by way of the hall. The hall leads from the foyer to the rear of the house. He entered the kitchen and went into the pantry; I was just behind him but stopped in the hall, beside the door."

"Did he see you?"

"I haven't the faintest idea."

"But you were careful not to be seen?"

Mr. Queen smiled. "I was neither careful nor careless. I just stood there beside the half-open hall door to the kitchen."

"Did the defendant turn around to look at you?" persisted Bradford.

"No."

"But you could see him?"

"Clearly."

"What did the defendant do?"

"He prepared some Manhattan cocktails in a mixing glass. He poured some into each of a number of clean glasses standing on a tray. He was reaching for the bottle of maraschino cherries on the pantry table when there was a knock at the back door. He left the cocktails and went out into the kitchen to see who had knocked."

"That was when Miss Lola Wright and the defendant had the conversation just testified to?"

"Yes."

"The tray of cocktails left in the butler's pantry were visible to you all during the period in which the defendant conversed with Lola Wright at the kitchen back door?"

"Yes, indeed."

Carter Bradford hesitated. Then he asked flatly: "Did you see anyone go near those cocktails between the time the defendant left them in the pantry and the time he returned?"

Mr. Queen replied: "I saw no one, because there wasn't anyone."

Bradford could scarcely conceal his elation as he asked, "Now, Mr. Smith, did you see the defendant return to the pantry after Lola Wright left?"

"I did."

"He dropped a maraschino cherry from the bottle into each cocktail, using a small ivory pick. He picked up the tray in both hands and carefully walked through the kitchen toward the door at which I was standing. I acted casual, and we went into the living room together, where he immediately began distributing the glasses to the family and guests."

"On his walk from the pantry to the living room with the tray, did anyone approach him except your- self?"

"No one."

Ellery waited for the next question with equanimity. He saw the triumph glimmer in Bradford's eyes.

"Mr. Smith, wasn't there something else you saw happen in that pantry?"

"No."

"Have you told us everything you saw?"

"Everything."

"Didn't you see the defendant drop a white powder into one of those cocktails?"

"No," said Mr. Queen. "I saw nothing of the sort."

"Then on the trip from the pantry to the living room?"

"Both Mr. Haight's hands were busy holding the tray. He dropped no foreign substance of any kind into any of the cocktails at any time during their preparation or while he carried the tray into the living room."

The Wrights glanced at one another with relief while Prosecutor Bradford suggested, "Perhaps you turned your head for a second?"

"My eyes were on that tray of cocktails continuously."

"You didn't look away for even a second, eh?"

"For even a second," said Mr. Queen.

"Well, then, Mr. Smith, did you see anyone else who had the opportunity to poison one of those cocktails?"

"I saw no one else, but—"

"In other words, Mr. Smith," cried Bradford, "the defendant James Haight was not only in the best position, but he was in the only position, to poison that cocktail?"

"No," said Mr. Smith. And then he smiled.

Prosecutor Bradford looked blank. Then he shouted: "Are you aware that you just testified that no one else entered the pantry? No one approached the defendant while he was carrying the cocktails into the living room? Allow me to repeat a question or two. Did anyone approach the defendant during his walk to the living room with the tray?"

"No," said Mr. Queen patiently.

"Did someone else enter the pantry while the defendant was talking to Lola Wright at the back door?"

"No."

Bradford was almost speechless. "Well then—who but James Haight could have poisoned one of those cocktails, by your own testimony?"

Judge Martin was on his feet, but before he could get the word "Objection" out of his mouth, Ellery said calmly: "I could."

There was a wholesale gasp before him and then a stricken silence. So he went on: "You see, it would have been easy for me to slip from behind the door of the hall, cross the few feet of kitchen to the pantry unobserved by Jim or Lola at the back door, drop arsenic into one of the cocktails, return the same way—"

And there was Babel all over again while Mr. Queen smiled benignly.

Over the buzz and Judge Newbold's resounding gavel, Prosecutor Bradford bellowed: "Well, DID you poison that cocktail, Smith?"

There were several instants of quiet again, during which Counsel Martin's voice was heard to say feebly, "I object—" and Mr. Queen's voice was heard to say feebly, "I object—" and Mr. Queen's voice topped the objection by declaring "On constitutional grounds—"

At that point Judge Newbold broke his gavel in pounding for order, and roared to the bailiff to clear the courtroom. Then he adjourned court for the day.

No Measures Can Assure Lasting Peace Says Shaw, 88

(George Bernard Shaw, known variously as one of the world's great literary figures, as leader of a cult who disdains cults, called the "Lit- erary Bad Boy" and "Professional Irishman," who is accused of taking an entirely orthodox delight in unorthodoxy, was 88 years old Wednesday. Asked for his views on certain post-war problems, the reply which follows verifies that time dulls neither the edge of his tongue nor his ideas, which brought bitter condemnation upon him in World War I. The manuscript of the following was delivered to The Associated Press in shorthand, with a note saying he had no time to transcribe it.)

By GEORGE BERNARD SHAW (Written For The Associated Press)

LONDON—Do I believe a lasting peace can be assured by a close-working and vigorous post-war alliance of the "big four"—Great Britain, the United States, Russia and China?

No. A lasting peace cannot be assured by any measures at present possible. Even a post-war alliance of the big four cannot be assured. The people who clamor for assurances and security are public nuisances.

Whatever arrangements follow the war we must still live dangerously, whether we like it or not.

(To a series of questions, Mr. Shaw wrote the following replies)

Question: Should Germany be totally disarmed and split into small, separate states such as existed before they were united under Bismarck?

Shaw: No. If disarmament and disintegration are desirable for Germany they are desirable for all the big powers as well. None of them will consent to it. The sort of armament that decides modern wars is so enormously expensive and needs such a big organization of industry that small states are virtually disarmed at present; and America and Russia hold the balance of military power.

Question: Should the German people be permitted to choose and elect their own form of government immediately after the war? or should there be an interim government of Great Britain, the United States and Russia? for how long a period?

Shaw: If the German people are not permitted to choose and elect their own form of government, the government must be imposed on them by the Allies, in which case it will not be their own form of government. It will be like our Indian civil service, the only available model, except that the nationality of its members will be mixed. This would end as the Indian service is ending.

Allies Can't Govern Selves

As none of the Allies except Russia has yet succeeded in governing itself decently or even feeding its whole population sufficiently—India has just lost two millions of people through a preventable famine—we could hardly pretend to be better able to govern Germany than the Germans. The interim government will be simply martial law.

Question: What should be Germany's post-war relationship to the rest of the world? should she be treated as a criminal, brought to book, and taught a lesson she will never forget? or should she be forgiven, once Nazism has been cast out, and freely accepted into the family of nations?

Shaw: If Germany is defeated, her relationship to her conquerors will be that of a wounded prisoner of war to his captors. When we take such a prisoner we give him every care and attention until he is cured, exactly as if he were one of our own soldiers.

That is how we shall treat Germany. That is how we shall treat Germany. That is how we shall treat Germany. That is how we shall treat Germany. That is how we shall treat Germany.

Will Pay For Revenge

If we let loose our vilest passions and indulge in a orgy of plunder and revenge we shall pay for it and be sorry after.

Nazism will not be cast out, as we and the Americans are steeped in it; but we may prosecute Jew-baiters and drive out Hitler as we drove out Napoleon and the Kaiser.

Question: What should the punishment of German war leaders and how far down into the ranks should the punishment extend?

Shaw: Punishment for what? for being war leaders? do you think that the heavy job of restoring half-ruined Europe could be done by persons with their heads full of punishment? the least hint of such a preoccupation should disqualify a diplomatist from taking any part in the organization of peace.

Question: Should Germany be made to help rebuild the cities she destroyed?

Shaw: Germany will hardly be able, without our help, to rebuild German cities we have destroyed.

"O.K. history.. dip this in your inkwell!"

O. K., you guys who write those history books.

Here are some notes for that volume titled World War II.

Look up the papers and see who hacked their way through those "impassable jungles on Buna and wiped the smiles off those "invincible" Japs who planned to dictate peace in the White House. That's right, brother. The Infantry, U. S.

Ask yourself who crawled through those modern conveniences on Attu—including cold running water and hot flying lead—to fight men they couldn't see—and ratted them out when every other effort failed. Right again, brother. Infantry.

Who faced German 88's at 200 yards at Salerno—and held—under conditions that would make hell look like Sunday at the shore? You hit it. Infantry.

Who shot it out with crack Nazi troops so close they could spit in their eye—and did—at the skirmish of the stone walls on Hill 609—and cracked open the road to Bizerte? Infantry. Dough-boys. The guys who spell it with rifles.

Sure. Give the Marines their due. Don't sell the Air Forces short. Don't sink the Navy. All the arms and services count—plenty.

We just ask you to write a few of these things between the lines and in the footnotes because we of the Infantry wrote them out in blood.

And, brother, there's plenty more where that came from. We've got other chapters to add—and we write a bold hand. You'll see our footnotes on the beaches of France. You'll find us crossing our t's in the hills of Bataan. You'll recognize our style in Flander's fields. We'll make our X with crossed rifles all the way across the world.

And when that last word is written, take a good look at the period after "peace." It was put there by a bayonet in the hands of a guy named Joe.

Keep your eye on the infantry...the doughboy does it!

Star-Studded Camp Reynolds Team To Play Here Tomorrow

Batting Averages At End Of Third Round Show Old Timers Best At The Plate

Still showing themselves to be the most regular hitters in the league, the Old Timers are way out in front in batting averages this time as the Class A loop closes its third round of the 1944 season.

A noticeable drop in Salem batting power has been revealed by the figures this time and the Old Timers have surged ahead of the eight team field with nine men above the .200 mark and two of those in the 300 brackets. The only other squad with two .300 hitters is the Salem News.

Averages this time are computed on 40 or more times at bat, with two exceptions—those players who started late in league play and have been in every game since starting are listed if they are batting .200 or better, regardless of how many times at bat. Jim's players are listed on a 30 time at bat basis, because they were not in the league the first round.

In first place this round is the Salem News second baseman, Don Beattie, and second is hard-hitting Charlie Huffer. Huffer is batting .383 and Beattie .388. Huffer has the most hits of any Class A player, piling out 23 in 60 trips to the plate.

"Sluggers" Appedisan, leading the league in home runs is speedy Jim Appedisan, Sheen third baseman. Appedisan is three ahead of all comers, as no other player has more than one this year.

The pitching statistics show Dale Ritchie supreme with 19 wins in 26 games. The only defeat the three-round winning hurler has suffered was an 8-0 setback at the hands of the Salem News Monday night. Ritchie's 18 straight is an all-time mark for Salem softball, breaking by seven games a record set in 1932 by Eddie Miller of the United Cigars.

MONTGOMERY WINS TITLE WITHOUT A FIGHTING LESSON

Fought His Way To Crown Without Any Instruction, Now In Army

By TOM SHRIVER
AP Features

NEW CUMBERLAND, Pa.—Bob Montgomery became lightweight boxing champion of the world without taking a boxing lesson, but he is reversing the procedure now that he is a private in Uncle Sam's army.

"I am listening to everything they tell me here at New Cumberland," says Bob. "When the time comes to go out and face those Japs or Nazis I want to feel that I am ready for the bell."

Montgomery, who was sent to the New Cumberland Reception Center after his induction in Philadelphia, says he became a fighter by accident. In fact a visit to his older brother in Philadelphia was the turning point in his life.

"I was helping my father on the farm down at Sumter, S. C., when I decided to take a trip to Philadelphia. When I said goodbye to the folks I promised to be back real soon to help in the harvest field."

"Then I drifted into a gymnasium to watch a boy named Johnny Hutchison prepare for a fight. His sparring partner had failed to show up, and he asked me to put on the gloves and let him hit me for a couple of rounds."

"Instinctively I defended myself and Hutchison was sure that I could be a boxer. So he talked me into entering an amateur tournament, and I won my first 15 fights."

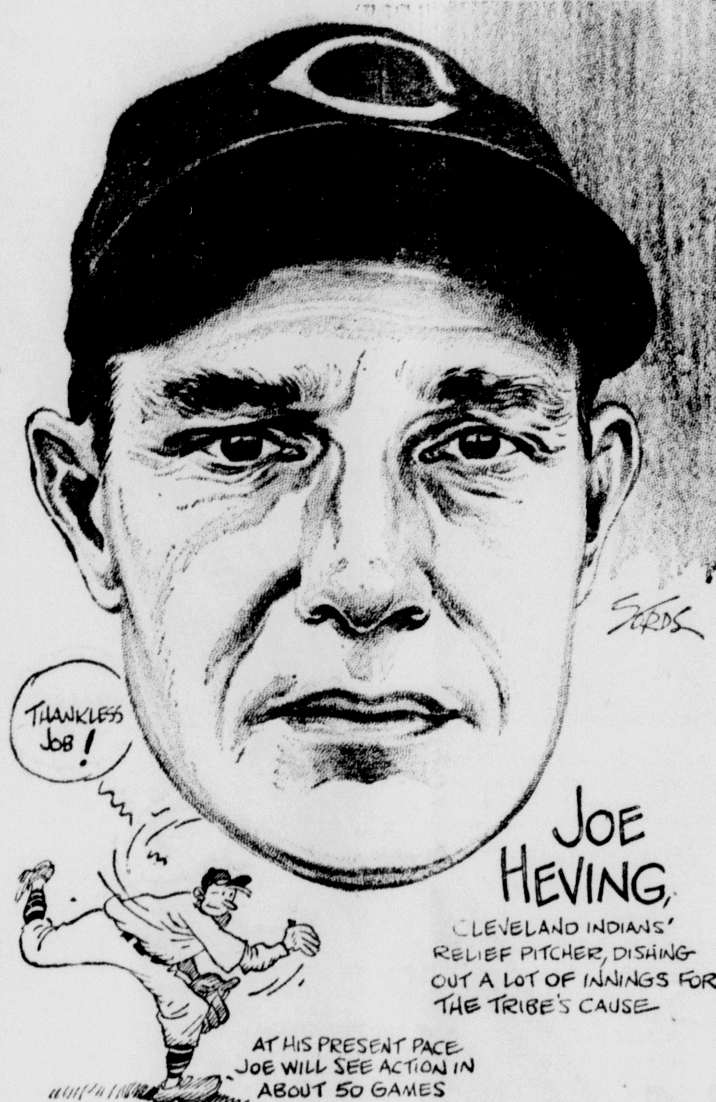

"After I took a beating in the 16th fight I was all set to quit, but Frankie Thomas, who had been a real friend to me, persuaded me to let him book me for a professional fight."

"I won that fight, and kept on going until finally I beat Beau Jack for the title in New York City. He beat me in our second fight, but I regained the title last March and I am sure I can beat Jack anytime we meet," says Bob.

Now that he is in the army Montgomery is learning how to be a different type of fighter.

"I want to go into action with combat troops," he says. "None of this business of being a camp instructor. I never ducked a fight in my life and this one against the Japs or Germans looks like a real scrap to me."

Fish And Tackle Expert Predicts Some Changes In Sport After War Is Ended

Stan Wright, World-Wide Fisherman, Says Game May Improve

By ROBERT GEIGER

Stan Wright has a very, very nice job. Stan is test fisherman for his own fishing tackle firm. (Wright and McGill) and travels the world over testing flies, lures, hooks and lines in all sorts of waters. Right now the air corps, the navy and the quartermasters of the Allied armies are virtually his sole customers.

"Well, sir, if I have to answer right off, without thinking too deeply, I'd say the best trout fishing to be found any place in the world is in the west," says Stan, who is baldish, old enough to have done a lot of fishing but not too old to have a good, stout casting muscle in his right arm.

"Pinning it down to exact spots, there are some wilderness areas of Montana that probably would yield as much fish as any fishing place in the world. An exception may be Alaska, but some Montana spots, that are almost as remote as places on the Alcan highway, are just as good for fishing. Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and Utah also have good trout streams."

"For sea fishing, I believe right now that the west coast of Mexico is the best bet. Fifteen minutes after I started fishing recently I tied into a fish that gave me just about all of the sport I could handle for the day."

The war now is taking all of the equipment that Wright's factory turns out and the fortunes of war promise to make America the greatest fishing tackle producing nation in the world, when men's minds once more turn to fishing for pleasure.

When the war started Great Britain had a monopoly on the fine tackle trade. Its craftsmen were known the world over for the excellent hooks, flies and lines they created.

"Then along came lend-lease and England, with no spare steel of its own cut of which to make fishing equipment, had to give up its export markets," says Wright. "America wouldn't permit her to ship back to this country the fishing hooks she might have made from lend-lease steel we were sending her."

"This caused quite a debate in parliament where the members discussed the fishing situation for a day in the midst of war troubles. But America stood firm and declined to permit fish hooks to be made for English export, from our lend-lease steel."

"The result was that American tackle producers were given the opportunity to prove their ability to manufacture equipment equal to or better than any produced any place in the world. America now is the only nation supplying export fishing equipment in important quantities."

"We will retain this lead after the war because the tackle we have been making has been distributed to soldiers the world over, and they like it."

SEWELL SURE HIS BROWNS WILL GET IN PENNANT FIGHT

Says They Will Be Among Top Until Finish If They Don't Win

By CHIP ROYAL

NEW YORK — The American League pennant race probably won't be settled until late in September. St. Louis is still the team to beat. But no matter if the Browns win or not, Luke Sewell will receive recognition as a great manager.

And it's about time, too. The soft-spoken gentleman from Alabama has been leading the Browns for three years. He's had to battle all the way to the top from the cellar.

Look back to just before June 5, 1941, when the grand catcher took the reins of the St. Louis club from Fred Haney. In 1939, the Browns won only 43 games out of 150 played and finished a poor eighth.

Has Improved Team

In 1940, they were almost as bad, winding up in sixth place. Came 1941 and the club flourished in the cellar after dropping 29 games in 44 starts. That was where Sewell took over.

The first thing that Luke added to the Browns was hustle.

"I don't care how much talent you have," Sewell tells his players, "as long as you love to play the game. You'll do the team a lot more good if you hustle than some player who knows he's good and won't hustle."

In 1942 the team finished third winning 82 games out of 151 played. Last season, after a bad start, the St. Louisans finished sixth with a 72-80 record.

When this writer visited the Browns' training camp at Cape Girardeau, Mo., this Spring, it looked pretty hopeless for Sewell. He had nine players, including the outfielder.

But that didn't faze Luke. He was smiling just as much then as he is now.

Will Get By

"We'll get by somehow," he said. "All the teams are in the same boat — and it's a long way to Luke never nerts or raves if a player makes a mistake. There's a mental note made of the instance and later that night, or the next morning, he takes the offending player aside and shows him the error of his ways."

"There's no use jawin' them," smiles Luke. "I was a player once and had plenty of trouble without the manager jumping on me. I'll go the limit for any player, help him all I can, as long as he hustles. That's all I ask of him."

Never Gives Up

Sewell has been in baseball too long to count any game won until the last out is made but he is confident that his Browns will be in the pennant fight at the finish.

George Weiss, Yankee farm boss, is the last fellow in the world to boost any other club than McCarthy's, but the other day in answer to a question about the probable American League pennant winner he couldn't help saying:

"Any team in the league can win the title this year if it plays consistent ball. The Browns seem to be the most consistent of the lot."

Five Minor Leaguers With All-Service Team To Play Athletics At Park Sunday

A star-studded Camp Reynolds Military Police baseball team—boasting five former professional minor league stars and several college players—will appear at Centennial park at 2:30 p. m. Sunday to do battle against the Salem Athletics.

In 11 games this season, the Reynolds warriors have dropped just two—one to the Youngstown Manufacturers and the other to the Youngstown Civic, both top-notch Class AA aggregations in the Mahoning Valley's toughest league.

Starting for the soldiers here will be Hank Soar, pro football player for the New York Giants before entering the service and an umpire in the International baseball league. Soar weighs about 260 pounds and has played a lot of baseball in his time, besides performing for several years as the star defensive back for the New York pros. He plays centerfield for the camp team.

Also on the lineup will be James McCollum at left field, a former Minneapolis outfielder in the American association. John English will play behind the plate Sunday—his old position with the Newark Bears.

Of International league fame will be Dan Cosgrove at first base and Steve Ocek, formerly of the House of David squad, will perform at third.

Charles Marth is slated for the pitching assignment, and the rest of the squad includes, Frank Martin in right field, Len Risuta at short and Joe Aquino at second.

Capt. J. C. Ridley is manager of the outfit and is bringing his second athletic group to Salem. He managed the basketball team that appeared here in the Little City tournament this spring.

For Salem, Walt Smith and Bill Allison will probably split the pitching duties with either Gordy Scullion or "Dutch" Taubler behind the bat.

Paul Stratton will work first base, Dale Ritchie second, Russ Montgomery on short and Walt Brian in the hot corner. In the outfield will be Al Callos, who incidentally made just one error Wednesday instead of three as listed in the Warren game summary. Callos takes over left field, Don Kenst center, and Charlie Huffer in right field.

Three new players will appear with the Athletics for the first time tomorrow. Two pitchers, Johnnie Ellis and Eddie Coughlin, both of Sebring, will be on hand, and Frankie Allen, formerly with Lake Placidia, will probably work in the outfield.

The Salem outfit is bidding for its seventh win of the year against seven losses.

Softball No-Hitter Ends In 11-1 Score

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, July 29.—Russ Stein hurled a no-hit ball game here yesterday as he pitched the Louisville, Ky., St. Agnes team to an 11 to 1 victory in the opening game of the first round of the National Junior Softball tournament.

Stein gave the Columbus Sunshine club its one run when he walked Charles Swank in the first inning. He later scored when Shortstop Keller Reide fumbled a ground ball and threw wide to first.

The second game, between the Birmingham, Ala. firemen and the Dayton, O. Whites was called in the seventh inning because of rain with Birmingham ahead 6-2. The game will be completed today.

mand of all the armed forces within the Reich. Each of this trio is personally ambitious and it's said that any one of them would cut the throats of the other two for half a dime.

Thus it's difficult to believe that they could work in harmony in such an upheaval unless a powerful hand was holding them in check. The present crisis is a "natural" for an adventurous man to seize power. It's no secret that the murderous Himmler would try to reach the top if Hitler weren't in the way.

The whole daring scheme of total regimentation of every man, woman and child in Germany, and the manner of execution, smack of Hitler's presence. He's the one who has the leadership to handle such a job, and has been so much, the whole show in Germany that the ship would go on the rocks without him.

Hitler apparently has decided to withdraw his forces to his inner fortress and make a fight to the finish, unless he gets a compromise peace. Of course, under those circumstances there's always a possibility that the Nazi captains will quarrel among themselves, and in that case the powerful Himmler might usurp power. If that should happen, Hitler would indeed be killed. Pending that time, you may agree that it's safest to figure he's alive.

May Withdraw Nazi Troops from Bulgaria

(By Associated Press)

ISTANBUL, July 27—(Delayed)—The government of Premier Ivan Bagrianov has asked Germany to evacuate all German armed forces from Bulgaria and there are indications the request may be heeded, according to information received here today. The Bulgars were reported to the government would defend the nation against attack "from any quarter."

The Germans at first refused to grant the Bulgarian request, the report said, on the ground that their other satellites might make the same demand and that prestige was involved, but developments suggest this stand was reconsidered. The Bulgars meanwhile are granting Soviet demands for establishment of Russian consulates in most of the country's chief ports and towns.

They have pointed out to the Germans, the report further related, that the Nazi troops in Bulgaria, estimated now at less than two divisions, are of no military help and draw Allied bombing. Among indications the Nazis may be preparing to get out of Bulgaria was a report from Ruschuk that Germans, just withdrawn from Varna and Burgas, now are concentrated in Ruschuk on the Danube just across from the Rumanian port of Giurgiu. Another report said Germans in southern Bulgaria now are massed close to the Greek frontier.

ing blow from Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces. A movement of enemy vehicles was reported yesterday along lateral roads toward the American sector from the Caen area, where Rommel had concentrated at least six tank divisions. When the American blow fell there were no more than two armored enemy divisions among the 12 deployed against U.S. troops, according to unofficial estimates.

Thus far 5,000 German prisoners were reported taken, and Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's men were 15 to 20 miles south of their jump-off line of last Tuesday.

1,500 Captured Yesterday

Of the prisoners, it was estimated that 1,500 were rounded up yesterday. Since Tuesday the Americans have overrun nearly 300 square miles of territory, equal to nearly a quarter of the total taken by all Allied forces in the previous seven weeks of the invasion.

Due south of St. Lo another American spearhead pushed down the Vire river from captured Tessy-sur-Vire toward the key communications center of Vire, 12 miles away. On the section of the 40-mile front east of St. Lo the road to Berny and Bayeux was cleared of Germans. St. Jean-Des-Baisants on the lateral St. Lo-Caumont highway and Vidouville were captured.

There was no evidence that any large number of Germans was caught in the Coutances area pocket formed by the junction of the westward thrust and the drives westward from the region of Les-say and Periers.

The Yank onslaught was so rapid and penetrating so deeply into the ranks of the retreating Germans it looks as if Rommel may have lost as many men outside the pocket as he might have in it.

U. S. Ninth air force pilots yesterday knocked out 70 German tanks over the Granville-Villedieu area. They damaged or probably destroyed 34 more, and altogether attacked 1,000 other German vehicles.

(The Germans reported the Americans were using 12 motorized divisions with 2,500 tanks.)

The Germans have against the American front at least 10 identified divisions—five infantry, three armored and two parachute.

DAYLIGHT RAID

Lacking details, those who studied the brief report on the attack assumed that the high-altitude, precision bombing technique used by other daylight strategic bombing forces was followed in the Mukden attack.

In the first night attack on Yawata, four planes were lost, one over the target, hit by flak, one listed as missing and two downed as the result of accidents.

The mission of the China-based Superfortress fleet is strategic bombing, the destruction of the enemy's war economy. So far, the attacks have been directed at production, with overland transportation apparently holding a No. 2 priority in the list of targets.

The Japanese, with the menace of Allied attack on their homeland increasing with each forward surge of forces in the Pacific, have accelerated their program for removing to or duplicating their war plants in Manchuria.

War Bond Dollars Are DOUBLE DUTY DOLLARS

HENRY FORD MARKS HIS 81ST BIRTHDAY

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, July 29—Henry Ford, who built a billion dollar industrial empire with an initial investment of $23,000, will observe his 81st birthday anniversary Sunday confident, he said today, that "prosperity and a higher standard of living can be attained after the war."

He predicted in an interview that the end of the war would bring a tremendous demand for motorcars and mechanized farm equipment and suggested that the Ford-operated Willow Run bomber may be used to manufacture Ford tractors. The famed elder statesman of the automobile industry departed with Mrs. Ford for a vacation at his lodge in the Huron mountains of northern Michigan. He said he never felt better. Lean, alert and agile, his appearance bore out his statement.

Asked about reports that his company was considering a postwar version of the famous model A, Ford said he had made no announcement of plans for such a car. "We are perfectly satisfied with the V-8," he said. "You can beat that engine. We went through the four-cylinder stage."

"But let's get the war finished before we start talking about post-war cars."

NAZI FLORENCE

Official reports said the situation on the Fifth army front was unchanged, with American and German artillery continuing a duel across the lower Arno river. No mention was made of whether either side was shelling the city of Pisa after a plea by Pope Pius for consideration of its historical and religious significance.

One extreme left wing of the Eighth army was within two miles of Empoli, on the south banks of the Arno nearly 30 miles east of Pisa and within 2 1/2 miles of Monte Lupo.

The Fifth army disclosed its artillery observation pilots had flown tiny, defenseless Cub planes 8,600 hours between May 5 and the fall of Rome June 3, spotting targets, and that practically all the pilots have been awarded air medals.

ROME, July 29—Transfer of two of the best known American divisional commanders in the Italian war theater to the United States for new duties was announced today by Allied headquarters.

They are Maj. Gen. Charles Ryder, commander of the 34th Infantry division and Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon, commander of the First armored division.

YANKS SEIZE

Tinian and 21,036 have been buried on Saipan.

On Tinian, where the Jap-built 4,500-foot Ushi airfield already is serving American planes, the Marines seized another airstrip near Gurguan point.

Richard W. Johnson, representing the combined Allied press, reported from a flagship at Tinian that: "The Leathernecks killed Japs at a ratio of better than 20 to 1."

On USHI airfield, "the wreckage of more than 50 (Jap) planes was strewn about fine concrete aprons and inside well built bunkers and revetments."

"The ground forces are supported by the most powerful tank forces yet assembled on a single front in the Pacific."

"Marines of the second and fourth divisions are moving behind a murderous curtain of artillery, aerial and naval bombardment which bottled up Jap mobile forces."

ONE AIRMAN STILL LOST, FOUR RESCUED

(By Associated Press)

GREENVILLE, Me., July 29—Rescue squads which in two days have brought safely out of northern Maine's wilderness four pilots and one passenger who either crashed, parachuted or landed in woodlands, resumed their search today for the one airman unaccounted for in a flight of nine planes from Moncton, N. B., to Dayton, Ohio.

The missing plane, piloted by Kenneth Tidd, 35, of Dayton, was believed down in the area between Baker lake and the St. John chain of lakes north of Moosehead.

It was in this section searchers yesterday found J. J. Curl, 34, of Dayton and Ben Thysen, 35, of Vandellia, O., general manager of the Dayton Aircraft Exchange, walking along a wooded "Tote" road, and located Earl Ashelford, 30, of Rockford, Ill., sitting unhurt on his wrecked craft. Thysen was a passenger in Curl's airplane.

Curl and Thysen, whose plane was not badly damaged, expressed belief Tidd's craft had come down about 35 miles from there.

Three of the planes, all of which left Moncton Wednesday, arrived at schedule at Millinocket, Me. Another reached Megantic, Que., after landing and refueling near Champlain lake in Maine.
